Individual gifts help defend rights, benefits

Over the last quarter of the 20th century, contributions to COLCPE most often came in waves as letter carriers responded to immediate legislative threats and direct appeals from NALC's national leadership.

Today, the threats remain, but the 21st century process of automatic donations is catching on as the primary source of revenue for the political action fund that promotes the letter carrier cause on Capitol Hill. Nonetheless, individuals still open their checkbooks throughout the year to send in occasional donations.

Sometimes these members are inspired by a political development, or are reminded of the important role COLCPE plays in defending letter carrier rights and benefits when they see a wage increase won through collective bargaining or a COLA added to an annuity.

Whatever the motivation, these contributions of $10, $25, $50 or more, all strengthen the Committee on Letter Carrier Political Education fund. With Congress closer than ever to decisive action on postal reform, it is particularly important now for NALC's legislative operation to remain strong.

That is why this issue of The Postal Record is saluting COLCPE contributors for calendar year 2005—their donations, converted into campaign support for both Republicans and Democrats, stand behind NALC's advocates when building our case with lawmakers.

On the preceding pages, members who have signed up for automatic, regular donations were listed. This section includes those members whose one-time or multiple but irregular donations were recorded during 2005. (If an individual gave more than once, the total of all donations is given.)

The listings are alphabetical by state, numerical by branch number within each state, and alphabetical by member's last name within each branch.

* This list includes donors whose contributions were recorded without enough information to establish their identity fully. An example would be a money order accompanied by a name but no hometown or branch number. Another could be the use of a nickname not recorded in NALC's computer database, or a name that is shared by more than one member. Some may be Auxiliary members who did not identify themselves as such, or other friends who failed to make their status clear.
