

Convention 2010

The NALC's 67th Biennial Convention preparation is underway. This year, the convention will be hosted at the Convention and Exposition Center in Anaheim, California, August 9-13. It is projected that 9,000 delegates and their families will be in attendance. MBA long ago began making the necessary preparations in anticipation of your attendance at our MBA representative seminar.

In keeping with the momentum we established at the 65th Biennial Convention held in Las Vegas in 2006, the MBA will continue to provide informative workshops. In contrast to previous conventions, the MBA will provide a training seminar.

This seminar is limited to MBA reps and branch-designated individuals where an MBA rep position does not exist and the person is interested in learning about the products offered by the members' fraternal life insurance association. Topics include:

- Brief history
- Hospital indemnity protection

- MBA's new life insurance products
- G-001 basic and supplemental insurance
- Annuity products
- MBA website

As during every national convention, the MBA staff will be available to answer your questions and address your concerns at our booth. Also, we will be able to provide you with on-site insurance quotes at our booth.

The breakfast workshop is to be held Tuesday, August 10, from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. There is no cost to attend this valuable function. Seating will be limited. All members who are interested should register in advance.

Below, we have provided a reservation coupon to be completed and returned to the MBA as soon as possible. At that time, your reservation will be placed on our confirmation roster and your tickets can be picked up at our convention booth.

I look forward to meeting you at the 67th Biennial MBA Workshop.
