

Carrier Corps to have big impact on election

With the November elections just two months away, members of the NALC Carrier Corps—the group of activist letter carriers leading the charge for grassroots and political action to solve our problems in Washington, DC—are busier than ever. They’re working on the AFL-CIO Labor 2012 campaign, lobbying legislators, writing letters to local newspapers, attending rallies and signing up new COLCPE supporters.

To recognize their hard work, members who have reached Gold or Silver status, demonstrating a high level of commitment to advancing the letter carrier agenda on Capitol Hill and in every neighborhood in America, will receive special recognition in this issue, and in future issues, of The Postal Record.

Carrier Corps members who have completed at least three activities reach Silver status; completing five activities leads to Gold status. Carrier Corps members get recognition for participating in any of the following activities, which must be approved NALC or AFL-CIO events:

- ✓ Canvassing, phone banking and other member contact, including collecting signatures on petitions.
- ✓ Signing up new Gimme 5 automatic contributors for COLCPE.
- ✓ Signing up new e-Activist members.
- ✓ Attending a rally, protest or march.

- ✓ Attending a political or legislative training session.
- ✓ Lobbying a member of Congress on NALC-specific issues through a lobby visit, a fundraiser or by sending a letter.
- ✓ Working on a political campaign for a candidate or cause supported by NALC.
- ✓ Organizing an event at the branch or state level that helps others complete any of these various actions.

“Every NALC member is aware that to get the meaningful postal reform we need, we need friends in Congress and the White House who will listen to letter carrier concerns,” President Fredric Rolando said. “We simply cannot succeed in our legislative efforts without grassroots participation by letter carriers, and Carrier Corps members are leading that effort by example—especially those who reach Gold and Silver levels. I urge every single letter carrier to follow their example.”

Carrier Corps members log their activities in a form on the NALC website. State association presidents must verify and approve the activities before participation credit is given.

For more information about how to participate in Carrier Corps or to log your activities, go to nalc.org and click on the Carrier Corps button on the home page. ✉
