

MAPPING OUT OUR POLITICAL ACTIVITY

WHAT DOES 2022 HAVE IN STORE FOR LETTER CARRIERS?

As letter carriers map out what is in store for 2022, it is important to take inventory of the significant events that are expected to shape the November midterm elections. As this article was going to press, the Postal Service Reform Act (H.R. 3076) was being scheduled for action on the House floor, which is encouraging; however, the outcome of that bill will not change the larger political landscape that will affect the 2022 midterms.

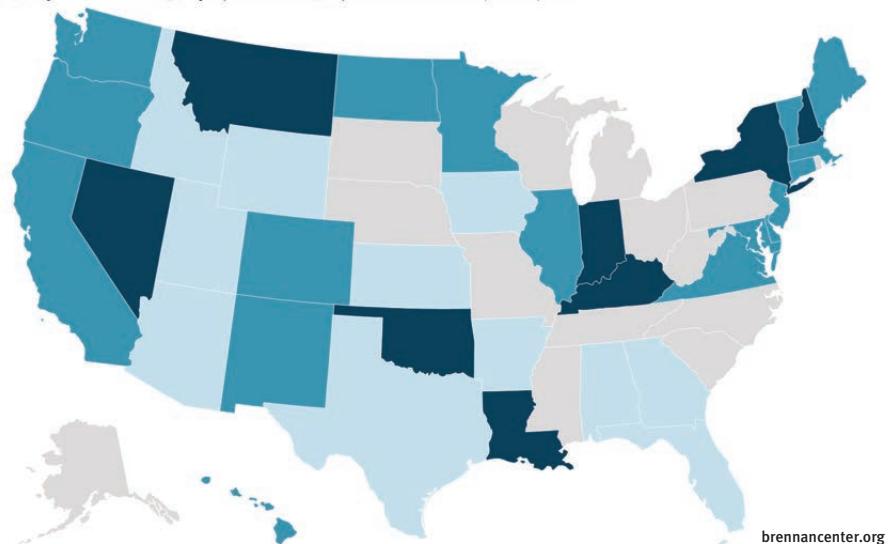

CHALLENGING TIMES FOR THE COUNTRY

For two years, a pandemic has gripped the country, affected our economy, redefined work for many of our customers, upended the nation's education system, shone a light on childcare inequity and healthcare, and magnified the racial and economic disparities in this country.

The violent insurrection at the Capitol just over a year ago has changed the institution of Congress, leaving distrust and vitriol on display for the world to see. Many congressional offices and the Capitol as a whole continue to have restricted access, increased security, and, with COVID-19 continuing to surge, limited in-person meetings and gatherings. These factors, coupled with redistricting efforts because of the 2020 census, have changed the competitiveness of several House districts as maps are redrawn and, as we've seen, have sparked a surge in announced retirements. Candidates on the fringes of each party talk of primarying members of Congress on both sides of the aisle who are deemed 'not progressive/conservative enough.' Many of the retirements involve longtime friends of letter carriers and the Letter Carrier Political Fund.

As this issue was going to press, six senators (five Republicans and one Democrat) and 41 House representatives (13 Republicans and 28 Democrats) have announced their retirements. Some are seeking higher office, while others have decided that they cannot win in their newly redrawn districts. But for many, the tension between parties and leadership as well as dwindling bipartisanship and overall lack of unity, coupled with the time and resources it takes to hold on to a competitive seat, have made serving in Congress less appealing.

"In Congress, I've witnessed how division is heavily rooted," retiring Rep. Adam Kinzinger (R-IL) said. "There is little to no desire to bridge our differences, and unity is a word we no longer use."

Kinzinger's sentiments ring true for many outgoing lawmakers. The divisions continue to grow as each side clings to its priorities, few of which seem to have a middle ground or seek to address the sharp divisions.

PARTY DYNAMICS AND PRIORITIES

Democrats are scrambling to advance the next phase of President Biden's Build Back Better agenda, which aims to tackle climate change, childcare, healthcare and education among many other matters. They also are seeking to advance federal legislation aimed at protecting voting rights, as 19 states have enacted voting laws that make it more difficult to vote. NALC, along with the AFL-CIO, participated in a coordinated effort to advance legislation in the Senate (see story, page 4).

State legislatures will continue to consider bills to restrict or protect voting rights, which will affect voter access and voter attitudes toward the parties in a midterm election where the stakes are high for the Democrats, who currently control the House and Senate by very narrow margins, and for the Republicans, who seek to gain control of those chambers.

In the Senate, there is a 50-50 split, with Vice President Kamala Harris providing a tie-breaking vote when needed. This puts the Senate under Democratic control, though under the filibuster rules, 60 votes are required in the Senate to advance most legislation. The Build Back Better agenda has been advanced by using a “reconciliation” measure, which requires only a simple majority. However, two Democratic senators have opposed the Build Back Better legislation, bringing the Senate to a standstill on the Build Back Better agenda and leaving the chamber largely focused on advancing nominations.

In the House, the 221-212 split (with two current vacancies) means that to achieve a 218 majority vote, Democrats cannot afford to lose more than three votes on any given measure, unless there is Republican support to offset those votes.

Republicans continue to warn of massive spending contained in several COVID-relief and response measures, citing a $193 trillion deficit as of November 2021, according to the Bipartisan Policy Center. Republican lawmakers point to inflation, high spending, rising taxes, and elimination of tax loopholes for the wealthiest, which together have driven GOP opposition to Biden administration priorities. As a result, legislation to reauthorize defense spending and traditional infrastructure investment, both of which are traditionally supported by both parties, were marred by partisanship and resistance. In fact, 12 House Republicans have received death threats in their districts for supporting federal investment in roads, bridges, water, rail and aviation, simply because infrastructure was tied to the Biden Build Back Better agenda.

For a variety of reasons, congressional compromise and comity are at a low point, making it more difficult for legislators to reach agreement on how best to act in the public good.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN FOR LETTER CARRIERS?

The news is not all bad. NALC members have been at the center of our economy, and that has not gone unnoticed. Two years of delivering to Americans during the pandemic so they can shelter safely at home or avoid shopping if they prefer, as well as the successful performance during both the 2020 elections and the recent holiday season, have put a spotlight on the positive role of letter carriers and the Postal Service. Maintaining a strong Postal Service continues to enjoy strong public support.

Letter carriers possess resolve, grit and determination, as we demonstrate daily on our routes and in our communities. Now, we need to once again apply that grit and determination to preserve and build our voice in Congress.

NALC will remain in the center of the conversation pushing for legislation and policies that serve our members, however the elections turn out. That means engaging and finding a middle ground with every member of Congress we can.

The Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF) is how we do just that. It is our safe place to fight for collective bargaining, worker protections, a strong Postal Service, and health and retirement benefits that attract and retain more letter carriers to public service. It is our voice in Washington and our strength in every congressional district. LCPF puts letter carriers' agenda front and center on the map. It makes it possible for federal candidates and incumbents to not only hear us, but to see us. As one of the top labor political action committees in the country, LCPF is invaluable, and its continued growth is paramount.

“As we continue to navigate the ever-changing, ever-challenging landscape, I thank every single member who has given to the Letter Carrier Political Fund,” NALC President Fredric Rolando said. “This year, I challenge our generous supporters to not only keep giving but to bring someone else in to do so. Whether it is someone who is passionate about the union, the contract, or politics—bring them in. We have a big umbrella and in unity we can weather any storm.” PR

THE LETTER CARRIER POLITICAL FUND SUPPORTING THOSE WHO SUPPORT LETTER CARRIERS

The Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF) is NALC's political action committee (PAC). Using funds donated voluntarily by NALC members and their families, LCPF supports letter carrier-friendly candidates. LCPF has a long history of supporting candidates in both parties, as well as independents, who support us and our issues. It is one of our strongest tools for defending our rights and protecting our jobs in the legislative and political arena, where elected representatives can affect letter carrier jobs and the Postal Service, both now and in the future.

Campaign fundraising and PACs are heavily regulated by federal law. Union dues cannot be used for political campaign contributions, so LCPF relies solely on voluntary contributions from our members. Thanks to LCPF, whenever Congress makes decisions affecting letter carriers' lives, we are more likely to have a voice in those decisions.

Using these collective funds, NALC can amplify our message on Capitol Hill, promote our priorities and identify those who will champion letter carrier issues in Congress. LCPF sends a strong message to lawmakers seeking reelection and candidates looking to join the halls of Congress: we support those who support us, regardless of political party. Those who seek to destroy our rights or dismantle our employer need not apply.

LCPF's activities make our grassroots activism far more effective. NALC keeps members informed about the issues and helps them connect with their representatives in the House and Senate to voice our concerns. Led by five legislative and political organizers (LPOs) at the regional level and hundreds of letter carrier congressional liaisons (LCCLs) who keep an eye on individual members of Congress, the grassroots program gets results because LCPF sets the stage. Thanks to LCPF, legislators listen to letter carriers.

"Letter carriers who call, write or meet with lawmakers educate them about the unmatched services we provide," NALC President Fredric Rolando said. "The lawmakers learn about our daily acts of heroism and humanitarianism on our routes in their communities. They learn that what is good for the Postal Service and its employees is good for their constituents, good for the economy, good for democracy and good for the American people as a whole."

This year brings another crucial national election with high stakes. The balance of power in both chambers of Congress is up for grabs, and the elections have enormous consequences for letter carriers and all workers.

"We need every NALC member to come together in support of LCPF and our grassroots activism," Rolando said. "Congress controls the Postal Service, our benefits and our collective-bargaining rights, and we cannot afford not to be totally committed to our legislative and political program. If everyone pitches in, even just a little, our strength is unmatched."

HOW LCPF WORKS

LCPF builds NALC's clout on Capitol Hill in various ways. It provides direct support to candidates' campaigns, giving them resources they need to communicate with voters, and it devotes resources to working on get-out-the-vote efforts. This vital effort involves direct member-engagement through coordinated work with our brothers and sisters in the labor movement. LCPF also offers communications, education and regular outreach throughout the election cycle to our members so they are well-informed about everything regarding their states, such as voter registration, early voting, absentee and voting by mail, candidates, issues and policies.

The Center for Responsive Politics estimates that $14 billion was spent in 2020 on federal political campaigns, including the presidential race. It takes a good deal of money for a candidate to campaign for office, and the composition of any given candidate's financial backers can be very broad and contain a wide range of issues on which they want support. They can range from labor unions to environmental groups, from defense contractors to health care companies, from agricultural interests to billionaires with pet projects. Many of these people and organizations have very deep pockets and are difficult to compete with.

LCPF is a small yet effective piece of the puzzle and ensures that letter carriers are at the table, as opposed to being on the menu. To be there, we need to rely on our power in numbers, and we need all of our members there with us to make a difference.

HOW TO SUPPORT LCPF

The easiest way to support LCPF is to sign up for automatic withdrawal of a small amount from your paycheck each pay period through PostalEASE.

"Most of our supporters use automatic payroll deductions, and it works well for them and for the Political Fund," Rolando said. "It spaces the total donation across the year, and it gives LCPF a steady source of income and the ability to plan how to best use the funds."

Both career carriers and city carrier assistants (CCAs) may sign up for LCPF donations through payroll deduction. CCAs must sign up again following a five-day break in service, and former CCAs who have converted to career status must sign up again following their conversion.

Active or retired letter carriers also can easily arrange for automatic deductions from a bank account, or for retired carriers, from their annuities.

By making a contribution to the Letter Carrier Political Fund, you are doing so voluntarily with the understanding that your contribution is not a condition of membership in the National Association of Letter Carriers or of employment by the Postal Service, nor is it part of union dues. You have a right to refuse to contribute without any reprisal. The Letter Carrier Political Fund will use the money it receives to contribute to candidates for federal office and undertake other political spending as permitted by law. Your selection shall remain in full force and effect until canceled. Contributions to the Letter Carrier Political Fund are not deductible for federal income tax purposes. Federal law prohibits the Letter Carrier Political Fund from soliciting contributions from individuals who are not NALC members, executive and administrative staff or their families. Any contribution received from such an individual will be refunded to that contributor. Federal law requires us to use our best efforts to collect and report the name, mailing address, occupation and name of employer of individuals whose contributions exceed $200 per calendar year. Any guideline amount is merely a suggestion, and an individual is free to contribute more or less than the guideline suggests and the union will not favor or disadvantage anyone by reason of the amount of his or her contribution or decision not to contribute.

NALC members have the option of making one-time contributions, or supplementing their automatic donations, by writing a check to the Letter Carrier Political Fund.

EVERY DONATION MATTERS

Listed in this issue are the 2021 donors to LCPF. The list is sorted first by state, then branch, then alphabetically. Each state and branch is shown with the percentage of NALC members who donated and the average donation amount.

In this list, the total amount given by a donor last year, including automatic deductions and any additional one-time donations, is listed with each donor's name.

To sign up or get more information on how to donate, visit nalc.org/pac, or use the forms found on the following pages.

"I ask that every letter carrier add his or her name to the list of LCPF supporters," President Rolando said. "Our strength is in our numbers, and the sky is the limit for what we can achieve in Washington, DC, if everyone participates. LCPF stands up for our jobs, our employer and our rights—it needs to have as much support as we can give it." PR
